-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 1 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121.
 - I. Claims 1-8,10, and 30, drawn to a method of maintaining a conversation between a server and a client using either a bidirectional or a non bidirectional communication protocol, classified in class 709, subclass 203.
 - II. Claims 9, 11-18, drawn to a method of drawn to a method of maintaining a conversation between a server and a client using as a communication protocol either a supported one of a plurality of bidirectional communication protocols or an available one of a plurality of non bidirectional communication protocols, depending on whether a need exists to communicate via at least one intermediary server that does not support any of the plurality of bidirectional communication protocols, classified in class 709, subclass 227.
 - III. Claims 19-20, drawn to a method of emulating a bidirectional communications connection between a server and a client, classified in class 703, subclass 26.
 - IV. Claims 21-25, drawn to a method of automatically adapting to the presence of an intermediary server between a server and a client, classified in class 379, subclass 201.09.

V. Claims 26-27, drawn to a method of processing requests at a server, the server in communication with at least one client, classified in class 379, subclass 202.01.

VI. Claim 28, drawn to a server to communicate with a client, classified in class 379, subclass 221.01.

VII. Claim 29, drawn to a system that automatically adapts communications between a server and a client to the presence or absence of an intermediary server between the server and the client and isolates a higher-level application program from the details of the communications, classified in class 709, subclass 217.

2. The inventions are distinct, each from one another because of the following reasons: Inventions I, II, III, IV, V, VI, and VII are related as mutually exclusive species in an intermediate-final product relationship. Distinctness is proven for claims in this relationship if the intermediate product is useful to make other than the final product (MPEP § 806.04(b), 3rd paragraph), and the species are patentably distinct (MPEP § 806.04(h)). Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions anticipated by the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Invention I is not required for Inventions II, III, IV, V, VI, VII restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Thus is the same for the other groups as they correspond to each other.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(I).

8. A call was made to Applicant's representative, Stephen Sullivan, for election, but no election was made.
